2021 COGS/CDIL Graduate Student Summer Fellowship Program

Description: The CDIL Graduate Student Summer Fellowship Program provides funding for a student currently enrolled in a university graduate program to work on the development of CDIL-related digital projects, be they projects related to CDIL connected faculty or that of the graduate student's own creation.

The Fellow will also participate in and help execute the CDIL Digital Scholarship Bootcamp, which is a free, three-day workshop for UI graduate students that will introduce a wide variety of digital scholarship tools and techniques.

Support for this fellowship is provided by the College of Graduate Studies (COGS) and the University of Idaho Library.

Expectations: The fellow will attend the CDIL Digital Scholarship Bootcamp from May 18 to May 20, after which they will be expected to work at the CDIL for approximately 20-25 hrs per week for 10 weeks.

During the fall semester, the Graduate Fellow will present their work in the CDIL, either as a traditional presentation or as a workshop.

Who is eligible: Any graduate student currently enrolled at UI (regardless of graduation date). Preference will be given to students whose work and potential project are related to work currently performed in the CDIL.

Deadline to apply: March 15, 2021

Number of awards: 1

Nature of the award: Summer funding to work in the CDIL during the summer for ~25 hours per week at a rate of $16/hr.

Duration of program: Summer 2021

Application and review process: Applicants provide a statement of interest (300 words) and background (150 words) via an online form. Applications will be reviewed by a committee of staff and faculty connected to the CDIL. Finalists may be asked to interview and/or to provide additional references.
